

Peter's Yoga at The Tin, Coventry Canal Basin – finding the venue is well worth the effort!

There is on-street parking around the Canal Basin, but if you're struggling for space, there is a car park on Leicester Row as you come off Foleshill Road

The Tin Music and Arts is based in two neighbouring buildings in the Canal Basin in Coventry City Centre. The music venue is The Coal Vaults, which are two 18th century former coal tunnels. Units 1- 4 are newer buildings next to the vaults, housing offices and the community space. This is where the yoga happens.

The Yoga venue is The Tin's community space. It's on the north side of the canal basin, the ground floor of the modern buildings on the canal-side. If you're driving, turn into Drapers Fields from St Nicholas Street, then use the car park immediately on your right. There are steps down to the canal-side. From the steps go left into the service area to the rear of the modern buildings. The entrance to the community space is from this service area via a double door with "units 1-4" above it. If it's an evening class you're looking at, doors are open from 6.10pm for the early class and from 7.50pm for the later one. Monday morning class, doors open from 7.15am. If you're walking, find your way in to the main canal basin area. You'll see the tin coal vaults on the north side of the basin and the room we use is next to that, door access as above from the rear service yard.
